

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Opened Yesterday and Will Continue Until Friday Afternoon.

ALL TEACHERS MUST ATTEND.

M. A. Cassidy, Of Lexington, Procured As Instructor For Sessions.

The Christian County Teachers' Institute convened in the Circuit Court room yesterday morning, with Miss Jennie West, superintendent of county schools, in charge. The sessions will continue until Friday afternoon.

The attendance at the opening session was necessarily small, as some of the teachers live 15 or 18 miles from the city and could not get here in time to answer at roll call, but at the afternoon session the attendance was largely increased.

There are about 130 teachers in the county and, though some of the former teachers will be off the list this year, the total attendance will be fully 100. The law requires that every teacher holding County, State or Normal certificates are required to attend all the sessions of the Institute.

Miss Jennie West, who is superintending the institute, is being most ably assisted by Misses Edizbeth Rascoe and Elizabeth Henry, of the County Board of Education.

Among those from a distance are: Mrs. Chas. P. Weaver, of Louisville, President of the School Improvement League.

Mr. W. S. Taylor, of Lexington, who is a Government officer and holds his appointment from the Department of Agriculture as Superintendent of the U. S. Corn Club.

Miss Iva Scott, of Bowling Green, Principal of the Department of Domestic Science in the Western Kentucky Normal School.

Mr. T. J. Coates, of Frankfort, State Rural School Supervisor.

Among the most attractive features of the Institute will be the school exhibitions of manual training, domestic science and general school work.

Thursday Night.

Thursday night is the time chosen for the public lecture by the Instructor, Mr. M. A. Cassidy. Everybody is most cordially invited to hear this lecture and all will be well repaid.

Mr. Cassidy is superintendent of the city schools of Lexington. He is at the head of one of the finest systems of public schools in the State and is intimately acquainted with every phase of school work. Besides he is intensely practical and is withal a most fluent and entertaining speaker.

The other visitors who are to address the institute during its sessions had not, yesterday morning, been assigned a certain day and hour for their lectures, owing to the fact that Miss West had not been able to carry out some of her plans up to the day before the assembling of the institute. For this reason she had not been able to perfectly arrange and print a program for the institute.

This institute will no doubt be one of the most interesting as well as instructive ones ever held. While public education has taken such immense strides in the past ten years in Kentucky, it is a most significant fact that the teachers are far better qualified than ever before to impart knowledge to those who have been entrusted to them, and nothing has been near so conducive to this as county institutes, which have absorbed the idea that no one can impart knowledge to the young unless he possesses that knowledge himself. Everybody is invited to attend all the sessions of the Institute.

DEATH OF CHAS. F. LACY

Confederate Veteran Heard Last Bugle Call Friday Night.

WAS ILL SEVERAL MONTHS

Was Born In Virginia and Came to Hopkinsville 25 Years Ago.

In the passing of Charles F. Lacy, who died Saturday at 5:00 p. m., the city has lost one of its best citizens. After confinement at home for several months, Mr. Lacy had to pass the most of the past two months in his chair owing to difficulty in breathing caused by heart affection, which caused his death. Through his long period of invalidism he was uncomplaining and patient.

Mr. Lacy died at the age of 67 years. He was born in Goochland county, Va. His mother is still living and is now in her 85th year. His father was William Lacy, who fought through the war between the States with the rank of Captain. Five daughters and three sons were born to Capt. and Mrs. William Lacy, all of whom are living excepting the one who passed away Saturday.

When the deceased entered the ranks of the Southern army he was a mere lad, but he made a good soldier and staid with his company until the close of the war. He came to this city, we understand, about 1888 or 1889. For many years past he had been in the tobacco business, his last contract being with the American Snuff Company as a buyer.

Mr. Lacy was a quiet, unassuming man, honest to a penny and a Christian gentleman. He had no enemies but hosts of friends. He was a devoted husband and loving father. His wife and four children survive him. His children are: Mrs. Harry Harton, of this city; Mrs. James Edwards, of this county, and Misses Charlie and Hattie Lacy.

In the absence of the pastor of the Ninth Street Christian church, of which Mr. Lacy was for many years a member, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. Clay Smith at the home, 927 South Virginia street, Sunday afternoon. The active pallbearers were with one exception, Confederate Veterans, and some of the comrades-in-arms of the deceased, namely: Nat Gaither, M. H. Nelson, Geo. T. Herndon, Dr. W. E. Reynolds, Judge W. P. Winfree and George E. Randle. The burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

2nd.—John P. Shaw " "
3rd.—J. C. Johnson vice J. R. King.

6th.—C. N. Rives vice Littlefield.
7th.—W. A. McKenzie re-elected.
8th.—J. F. Mason vice W. E. Peden.

Killed a Tot.

Kansas City, Aug. 25.—Because they did not want him to follow them and were unable to persuade him to stay at home, playmates of little Joseph Timmerman, aged 4, stoned him to death, and dragged his body to a brush heap and covered it with brush. Two of the boys confessed. They said they had merely thrown rocks at him to scare him, but one of them hit him in the temple.

ACCIDENT TO AEROPLANE.

Another Unsuccessful Try-Out By Aviator Gray Last Friday.

AVIATOR GETS SHAKE-UP.

The Machine Is Badly Wrecked And May Be Rebuilt Altogether.

J. P. Gray, the Aeronaut, who has been here for a week or more, made a slight flight with Judge Prowse's small Aeroplane last Friday. He did not go over 50 feet in the air and when he descended at the far end of the field he brought the machine to earth, and in doing so he had a close call for his life.

Instead of letting the machine glide to where he wanted to land he came almost straight down and the rear end struck the earth in place of landing on the runners. The machine was thrown forward and the aeronaut, who is a hydroplane operator, was thrown out and landed about eighteen feet from the machine. Fortunately he was not injured but the machine was so badly wrecked that it may be necessary to altogether rebuild it. Had the machine turned over and caught him he would no doubt have been killed, or at least been seriously injured. The damage to the motor was slight.

The machine had been overhauled and was thought to be in perfect condition, and really was, but Mr. Gray's knowledge of hydroplanes, we are told, is greater than that of aeroplanes. In manipulating the machine for a descent the knowledge of knowing how and when to glide is altogether essential. Hence the straight downward course of the aeroplane is extremely dangerous and the wonder is that Mr. Gray was not killed and the motor ruined.

CONCERT TONIGHT

First Of The Season To Be Given East Of Hotel Latham.

At last we're able to make definite announcement of a series of open air concerts by the Third Regiment Band. The first will be given tonight on the vacant lot East of Hotel Latham, which is now the property of Councilman John J. Metcalfe.

Here are three parties that are worthy the thanks of all: First, Mr. Metcalfe has donated the use of the ground. Second, Mr. Blake, local manager of the Public Service Co., has agreed to put up the wires and furnish the electric lights for the season free of charge. Third, the city fathers have agreed to erect a grand stand for the band—and they will have it ready for tonight, too.

For the liberality of the three they have the gratitude of everybody in contributing to the pleasure of the people generally and giving them a chance for a great musical treat.

But there is somebody else to be remembered while we are bowing with bared heads. First Mr. Lebkuecher and his musicians. Second Mr. Lebkuecher and the people who worked so hard with him in securing what was necessary to furnish the people with entertainment out in the open, where care is dispelled and perplexity is forgotten for a season.

Here's to all of them! may they live long and prosper.
Director Lebkuecher says the concert will begin about 8 o'clock.

No More Sunday Mail.

Postmaster Williamson yesterday received an official order that post offices of the first and second classes would hereafter be closed on Sunday. This eliminates the general delivery of 30 minutes at 9:30 a. m.

CHARGED WITH BURNING HALL.

Monroe Wallace Is Now In Jail Awaiting His Trial.

BLOODHOUNDS PUT ON TRAIL.

Accused Says He Is Innocent In Face Circumstantial Evidence.

Charged with burning a colored secret society hall at Pee Dee, this county, Monroe Wallace, colored, is now in jail awaiting his examining trial before County Judge Knight. The case will probably be called next Wednesday.

Our informant furnishes us with the following account of the burning of the hall and the incidents leading up to the arrest of the accused and his commitment to the county jail. He says that Wallace is a member of and a deacon of a colored church at that place. Not long since the secret order of which he was also a member, held a meeting and for some unknown cause, expelled him from the order.

The members of the order or other parties held a festival there and Wallace, contrary to law, sold soft drinks to the participants in the festival. He was told that he was violating the law, but said he was going to sell anyway. Constable Thomas Winfree, of this city, was notified of Wallace's action and he went down and arrested him and put him under a $50 bond to appear before the County Judge. He failed to appear for trial and his friends paid the amount of the bond.

Saturday night between twelve and one o'clock the hall burned to the ground. Suspicion attaching to Wallace, Mr. Winfree and others got in communication with the Stout Detective Agency, at Nashville, and the agency sent a man with bloodhounds to Pee Dee. The hounds, after sniffing a ladder which had been used by the one who set fire to the burned building, struck a trail and followed it over wire fences and through corn and tobacco fields, bringing them up at the back door of Wallace's house. When they reached the door they jumped up on the door and yelped until Constable Winfree called Wallace from the house and arrested him and brought him to town in an automobile and put him in jail.

Thirty barrels of flour can be hauled in it, while 16 barrels can only be brought in by a wagon in good weather over good roads.

RAT DESTROYS WINE

Curious Pest That Afflicts Inhabitants of Ceylon.

Its Odor So Powerful That It Penetrates the Corks—Milk and Water Are Doctored in a Peculiar Way.

Wine made in Ceylon has a curious enemy, the muskrat. Not an innocent and even edible beast like our own muskrat, but a creature described as "a fearful plague, and so powerful is its odor that at one time it was thought it would even penetrate glass."

This belief was due to the fact that securely bottled wine, over the bottles of which this rat had passed and in passing perfumed them, was found, on opening to be utterly worthless and full of musk. According to Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular, investigations and experiments, however, showed that instead of penetrating the glass, it finds access to the wine through the cork.

The water of Ceylon is none of the best. Near the coast lines it is brackish, owing to the sea and the many salt marshes. In the low country where rivers and streams are few and far apart, the supply is from artificial tanks, and their tributary streams and outlets are the resort of the deer and cattle and elephants that come to bathe and wallow in them, thereby keeping the water in a muddy state perpetually.

To remedy this condition the Cingalese resort to a rather curious practice; water for drinking purposes is always put into an unglazed chatty, which before using they thoroughly rub with a seed that they call ingini.
This is rubbed on the inside of the chatty until about half the seed is worn away; the muddy water is then poured in the prepared jar and allowed to stand.

At first the water is about the consistency of macilage, but this soon disappears and a viscid sediment forms at the bottom of the vessel, the clear water remaining on top. It is now ready for use, and although not of the clearest, is sufficiently pure for ordinary use.

Milk is almost a luxury in Ceylon, owing to several causes, among which is the land leech. These pests frequent the pastures in such numbers that they will suck the blood from an animal in a very short time, and therefore cattle raising cannot be resorted to on any large scale. Another feature is the use of bakatoo by the natives in the milk which they sell to the Europeans who have settled there.

It is a thorny fruited plant with dark orange-colored roots and primroselike flowers, which has equally wonderful effects on milk and on water, though of a different nature.
If pieces of the stem, root and leaves be mixed for a few seconds in milk or water, the liquid turns thick and mucilaginous, so much so that water in this state can be raised by the hand several feet out of a basin and will fall back without noise. This, moreover, is done without imparting any color, taste or smell to the fluid, which returns to its natural state in about ten or fifteen minutes.

What the Zebu is Doing.

A. P. Borden of the gulf coast, Texas, through some practical experiments became convinced that a combination of the zebu, or sacred ox of India, with the Texas cattle would produce a strain that would be immune from the so-called Texas fever, a disease that is transmitted from one animal to another by the Texas tick.
Millions of dollars have been lost through the ravages caused by this insect, and other millions have been expended by the government in an attempt to exterminate it. The zebu is immune to attacks from the tick, and the score of Indian cattle that was imported in 1906 and put with the native herds of Mr. Borden, have increased, waxed strong, fattened easily and remained free from ticks. It is believed that this new hybrid will flourish on the unlimited acres of swamp or marsh grass upon which our native cattle cannot live. If the cattabu, as the new animal is called, proves half as valuable as the southern stock raisers believe it will, its introduction will help to restore stock raising to its former prestige.

Smashing a Superstition.

A woman who sets particular store
by the thirteen superstition surprised her friends by accepting an invitation to a luncheon where there were to be thirteen guests.

"I will be safe," she said, "for I shall make it a point to be the thirteenth person to enter the room. That is a funny thing about thirteen. Many accidents have happened to companies thirteen in number, but investigation has shown that while the other twelve persons suffered more or less the thirteenth person who joined the company always escaped unharmed."

A Vienna Industry.

"Ah, Gustave, what luck!"
"Excellent, Johann. I am writing four comic operas a year."
"Is it possible? Yet I have never seen one of your operas here in Vienna."
"I have never produced one here. I furnish European successes for the American stage."

BURIED TALENT HELD TO BLAME

Educated People Responsible for the Illiterate.

OPPORTUNITIES NOT REALIZED

In an Awakening Address Delivered by Harry A. Sommers of the Elizabethtown News Before the Kentucky Educational Association, the People of the Commonwealth Were Forcibly Reminded of a Duty Long Neglected.

At a recent meeting of the Kentucky Educational association at Louisville, Harry A. Sommers of the Elizabethtown News charged that the educated people of the commonwealth are chiefly responsible for the uneducated and that Kentucky has been asleep for fifty years on the public school situation.

Mr. Sommers spoke in part as follows on the subject of "The Press and the Public School":

I charge that the educated of the commonwealth are chiefly responsible for the uneducated, that the learned are responsible for the illiterate. We have been given talent which we have buried instead of using for our more unfortunate fellow man. We have marvelous opportunities, but we have not realized or accepted the responsibilities which go with the opportunity.

Kentucky, the first state in the South to establish free schools, has been asleep for nearly fifty years on public school education and now wakes to find herself lagging in the rear of most of her sister states in this important matter. We were asleep when we allowed our rural schools to retrograde. We were asleep when we did not keep the school space with the development and growth of the nation. We were asleep when we left the whole matter in the hands of the school teacher and neglected our responsibility to assist him and stand by him. We were asleep when we sent men to the legislature unfit to grapple with this question and most generally indifferent to it.

Thank God we are awake now and before it is too late. Awake and on guard, and, if we as sentinels for education on the watch towers of progress go to sleep until the school house is made a thing of credit instead of a thing of reproach, until the stain of illiteracy is wiped out, we deserve the fate of any sentinel who goes to sleep at his post. A man who does wrong and does not know he has violated the law is not exempt from the penalty, but the man who knowingly violates the law is more culpable. While we were ignorant and indifferent to the lack of advancement in our schools we were nevertheless responsible, but now that we are fully aware of our unfortunate condition we are doubly responsible if we do not respond to it.

The precious jewels of the commonwealth are its children. The future of the state depends upon them and they depend on us. Are we going to polish them with an education to fit them for life's duties and obligations and citizenship, or are we going to allow them to grow up in ignorance to become paupers and criminals? It is a burning question which appeals to manhood, which appeals to intelligence, which appeals to our hearts. Have we heard the cry which comes from the mountains and from the isolated sections all over Kentucky? I, for one, have heard it. It has been ringing in my ears for ten years or more and neither my pen nor voice shall become silent in answering it, until every educated man and woman in the state realizes our needs and recognizes the responsibilities. As the aged Hamlet in his camp fires swore the infant Hannibal to eternal hatred for Rome, so I would swear you now by the intelligence which beams in your eyes, by the enthusiasm which runs in your veins and by the love which is in your hearts, to swear an eternal hatred for ignorance and illiteracy until we have wiped it from our borders.

What we need in Kentucky is public sentiment for the public schools, for laws without public sentiment will not solve our problem. We need a public sentiment which will impress the fact that a greater obligation rests upon the parents to educate their children than upon the state, and that they ought to be willing to pay more for it than the state.

That the best way to create a local interest in the local school is a local tax and as proof of this, it should be shown that all the best schools have a local tax and all the worst schools are without it.

That the district trustee should be as much interested in the teacher and his teaching as the teacher is in his school. That the school house should be as good and as attractive as any home in the district.

That when we know under the new school census where the illiterate children live, it will become the duty of the people of that district to see that these children are sent to school and provide clothing and shoes if the parents are too poor to provide them.

That the teacher should be more commended for what he is able to accomplish and less criticized for what he is unable to do.

That moonlight schools for the adults will pay better than moonshine stills.

That the office of county school superintendent is the most important in the country.

That it is more important to educate all the people some, than a few of the people a great deal.

That we do not need to teach dead languages in a live country except within the walls of a university.

That those things which will be of most value to a boy and girl after they leave school should be the things which should be taught first and best.

That the children's minds should not be puzzled over Greek roots when they do not know the difference between calamus root and poke root.

That the conjugation of the verb "amo" need not be taught in the school because the boys and girls learn it soon enough outside the school.

That the unknown quantities of algebra had better remain unknown than that a boy should remain ignorant of the soil quantities of his father's farm.

That the time spent in making different performances on the piano could be better utilized in abolishing bad biscuits from the breakfast table.

That the public school ought to get in the newspaper and the newspaper in the public school.

While you may not agree with me in all of these things, you will certainly agree with me in most of them. The question is how are we going to create this public sentiment.

The school teacher is powerless to do it even when he does his best. He is handicapped by the very nature of the case. We must look to the educated people of this state. Men and women who will give their time and talent and means to create a better sentiment for the rural schools, and we must look to the press.

The newspaper and the public schools are the two greatest forces at work in this country for both progress and enlightenment.

The newspapers' influence depends upon the number of readers it has and the number of readers depends on how many people are taught to read. There must be a combination between the press and the professor, a united interest between the newspaper and the public school. If the press of this state would give half the thought and half the space to education that it does to politics the schools would be revolutionized in less than a decade. The press must first be made interested in this great question, then it must be educated to the needs of the schools, then shown how the needs may be supplied. The editor and the school teacher must be brought within closer touch with each other. This should be done through this organization.

Mind you, I am not talking about a movement through the press for the benefit of the teachers, but a movement for the benefit of the people. The school must be made the important thing and not the school teacher. The children's interest must be put in the forefront as the battle cry through the press for their welfare, and the welfare of the state. All great enterprises get before the public with the news bureau and there is no enterprise as great as the education of the masses. Most enterprises pay for publicity, but this is one of which the newspapers will require no pay. It takes real newspaper talent to conduct any kind of publicity bureau. It requires the talent of first interesting the reader with what it tells, next it must do more than interest it, it should get the reader in sympathy with the story, then it must so take hold of him that he wants a part in it. There should be selected a most capable man or woman with proper newspaper instinct to send a column once a week to every newspaper in Kentucky of such live public school matter that the editor will be glad to give it space. The information should be gathered from the various schools all over the state by the teachers and sent to the head of their bureau. It should be facts and not arguments. The facts can be so written that they will carry their own argument and also carry convictions. Such an educational press bureau established in this city or Frankfort could and would arouse more interest and create more public sentiment for the rural schools than any other one thing could do, because every week it would have a thousand times as large an audience as this building will hold. With the press willing to help, I do hope that such an opportunity will not be allowed to escape.

FACT

Local Evidence.

Evidence that can be verified. Fact is what we want. Opinion is not enough. Opinions differ. Here's a Hopkinsville fact. You can test it.

Mrs. W. H. Kelley, 517 O'Nea St., Hopkinsville, Ky. says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and another member of the family also took them. We have always received good results. I suffered from weak kidneys, had sharp pains across the small of my back and in my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I got a box from the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co. and was greatly benefited. Since then I have used several boxes and never failed to get relief. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as doing just as advertised."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Sublime and Ridiculous.

We like fine writing when it is properly applied; so we appreciate the following burst of eloquence in a contemporary: "As the ostrich uses both legs and wings when the Arabian courses bounds in her ear—as the winged lightning less from the heavens when the thunderbolts are loosed—does a little negro run when a big dog is after him."

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels so that they have been regular ever since."—E. Davis, Grocer, Sulphur Springs, Texas.

A Lead Pencil Danger.

In the United States the danger of putting pencils in the mouth has long been recognized, and in all the schools every precaution is taken to prevent the interchange of pencils as well as the moistening of them with the lips. A great many children and even their elders, who ought to know better, persist in putting pencils in their mouth regardless of the risk they run.

As He Understood It.

A Portobello (Scotland) schoolboy has produced the champion howler of the season. The passage for penmanship was from Kingsley: "For men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." "Men and women," said the youngster, "must keep on working though the tug at the harbor is groaning for its customers."

Value of Reputation.

Reputation is in itself only a farthing candle, of uncertain flame, and easily blown out, but it is the light by which the world looks for and finds merit—Lowell.

His Only Chance.

The man who has never become sufficiently important to lift a first shovelful of earth or lay a corner stone or drive a last spike may as well try to become reconciled to the fact that posterity will have to honor him, if he is to be honored.

For any itchiness of the skin, for skin rashes, chap, pimples, etc., try Doan's Ointment. 50c at all drug stores.

EAGER TO HELP.

He—My dear Miss Gladys, I have been converted, but I find there are some things I must do. The minister has told me, for instance, that where I have done wrong, I must make restitution.

She (sympathizingly)—Sometimes that cannot always be done, for ministers ask hard things.

He (doubtfully)—Now, Miss Gladys, the other day I stole a kiss from you, and, according to the minister, I must give it back.

She (promptly)—Well, I suppose you ought to do what the minister tells you.

A man at Cambridge, Mass., has invented a process for making "hot ice." Nothing so strange about that. Most any Hopkingsville man can make a "coal fire."

The Livingston Banner refers to a provision of the county unit law as a "joke" put in by the last legislature. The Banner is mistaken. The feature of the law referred to was passed 18 years ago and was not changed in any way.

A "divorce party" was given at Reno, Neb., Thursday evening when Mrs. Mary Fuller, a divorcee from Boston, entertained in honor of Philip T. Dodge, President of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company of New York, who filed his suit for divorce two weeks ago. The only unmarried married man present was Ray Baker, former warden of the Nevada State Prison.

Mac Baynham, the well known farmer residing near town, brought an Irish potato freak to our office Saturday. It is a large, fully developed potato, grown in such a shape as to lead one to believe that it was a real Teddy Bear. It has the pointed face of the bear, and outstretched paws. Many persons viewed the curiosity, and say they never before saw such a freak in the potato line. — Bayfield Messenger.

It is needless to add that it was of the one-in-the-hill variety.

ration and that it was put on the Roosevelt blacklist when it refused to increase the contribution to a quarter of a million. Prophecies of "retaliatory measures" were then fulfilled, he said, and "outrageous attacks" on the company were indorsed at random by the then President. Col. Local Paragraphs

The crowd of the year will be in town on Saturday, September 7—circus day.

The scarcity of mosquitoes has been commented on and the cause has been discussed. The probable reason is that there have been no stagnant pools, on account of the many rains.

All the pastors of the city, with two exceptions, took no vacation this summer. The night services were generally omitted, but as next Sunday is the first Sunday in September the evening services will be resumed. Rev. E. B. Landis will be at home on the 5th.

Only six days more and the public schools will open. Superintendent Clark is getting everything in readiness and Principal A. O. Bowden, in charge of the High School, is here arranging affairs at the new building for the most successful opening of the public schools we have ever had.

Main and Ninth streets have been cut all to pieces in the last three weeks by the water and light companies, both of which are largely increasing their facilities for supplying the constantly increasing demands of the public. The object in rushing the work is to make all connections before the contractors begin making the new bitulithic streets.

If the wheat crop was only half a yield it seems to have made no difference with the farmers as to buying pleasure vehicles. Every day the dealers are making sales. It is safe to say that Christian county farmers never were in better financial condition than to-day. It seems also that an unusual quantity of seeds and implements with which to prepare the land for future crops are being bought. In fact, general business is brisk, for this season of the year, and many merchants are now in the East buying heavy fall stocks of goods.

What use on earth—on earth, mind you—can there be for hot ice? Now that Prof. Bridgeman, of the department of physics of Harvard, has actually produced it at a temperature of 173 degrees, the next thing is to think of how it may be used. Some one suggested that it would be "mighty nice to use in making Tom and Jerry," another that it would be a fine thing to put in the foot of a buggy on a cold day. Somebody else wanted to know what kind of a refrigerator it could be kept in. Another said a piece could be dropped into the bath tub to warm the water. The incredulous will laugh at the very suggestion of hot ice. So they did when the report was started that ice could be made by artificial means. It occurs to us that the new product has the wrong name. Webster says that ice is "formed under influences of extreme cold" and that "it is solidified water." Water solidified by extreme heat can't well be called "ice."

Caught Wild Goose.

Martin Carter, colored, is the proud possessor of a wild goose, which he and his little boy caught last Friday. Carter lives near Herndon and when he and his boy first saw the goose it was several feet in the air and coming from the direction Binns' Mill. When it was near where Carter was working it lit in the corn field. Carter and his son started out to capture it, which they did after a long chase. Carter clipped one of the wings and put it with his tame geese to form their acquaintance. He seems very well satisfied but at times manifests a desire to again mount in the air and leave the country.

CIRCUS HAS NEW PARADE FARM LOANS

Ringling Brothers Also Add New Spectacle Costing $500,000.

In novelty, costliness and brilliancy, the parade which the Ringling Brothers are presenting this season is a marvel of achievement. It far surpasses their past records. There are three miles of it. In every mile more strange sights are disclosed than are possessed by any other circus that ever toured America.

When it is seen in the streets of Hopkinsville on Saturday Sept. 7 it will afford more real enjoyment than usually comes with circus day.

The Ringling Circus has a payroll on which are 1,280 names. Its daily expenses are $7,500. It costs over $2,000 every day to feed the army of performers and workmen. The 650 horses, forty elephants and 1,000 menagerie animals consume many tons of hay and grain each day. One ton of fresh meat is needed every day.

When all the canvas of the show is up, fourteen acres of ground are covered. Besides the several exhibition tents, there are rows of dressing-rooms, streets of shops, a post-office, hospital, hotel, library, laundry and dynamo plant where power is generated for 6,000 electric lamps, beacon and searchlight. The show carries its own doctors, lawyers, dentists and detectives.

The train that pulls the circus from town to town is more than a mile in length. In a single season it travels 40,000 miles, stopping at some 200 cities. Its tours extend from Maine to California and Canada to the Gulf. The management maintains business offices in New York City and Chicago, winter quarters in Baraboo, Wis., foreign workshops at Stoke-on-Trent, England, and agencies in London, Liverpool, Paris, Hamburg, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Melbourne, Constantinople, Vienna, Calcutta, Hong Kong, Buenos Aires and Cape Town.

This season it has 375 performers. Over 300 of these are making their first tour of America. There are artists from Germany, France, Italy, Norway, Holland, Spain, Belgium, England, Australia, Greece, Syria, Turkey, Japan, South Africa, South America, Cuba, Mexico, and New Zealand.

There are fifty sensational acts on the program. Any one of them would carry a show to distinction. The Schuman performing horses, from the Circus Schuman of Germany, are worth their weight in gold. Other noted features are Mijarez, the Mexican wizard of the wire; Caesar, the man with the iron head; the Ty-Bell "Human Butterflies," Capt. Huling's two troupes of trained seals, the Florence, Hinz-Kimball and Castrillon families of acrobats, the Klarkonian aerialists, the Rooney family of equestrians, and the fifty funniest clowns in the world.

To all of this is added, at a cost of $500,000, the great spectacular wordless play, "Joan of Arc," enacted on a stage bigger than 100 theatres and with a cast of 1,200 characters, 600 horses and ballet of 300 dancing girls.

DEMOCRACY MUST BE A WORTHY INSTRUMENT

People Trust It, Says Woodrow Wilson, and It Must Make Good.

Sea Girt, N. J.—Woodrow Wilson at the "Little White House" at Sea Girt is daily called upon to demonstrate his ability as a ready speaker.

There is not a day passes but what he meets various delegations who call to assure him of their support.

In speaking of political machines to the Brooklyn Democratic club Governor Wilson said: "Machines are bad, but an organization may be very essential. For instance, I have been surrounded by an organization here in New Jersey while doing my best work. A machine uses its political opportunities for the selfish ends of its members. No members of our organization would ever think of doing that. Public opinion in New Jersey has drawn the distinction. It has killed the machines, and it is going to keep the organization going."

"It seems to me that we are standing in the presence of something higher than allegiance to the Democratic party. The country has been disappointed in the Republican party, and it is turning to the Democratic party. That party is willing to show the way toward those things which must be realized."

"Some gentlemen seem to find it easy to make personalities out of politics, but it seems to me that whenever that is done politics is debased."

"Men who are in search of reform are now resorting to the Democratic party, because, for my own part, I do not know where else they will turn to expect the results. There is no discounting the strength and serviceability of a united party, and the splendid part is that the Democratic party is united."

"Speaking seriously, nothing affords me more genuine pleasure than to receive such greetings from men in Jersey who have at least tested my qualities. Because you have known me at close range and if you will be kind enough to vouch for me perhaps the rest of the country will be credulous of your report."

"I have spent a great deal of time since I became governor of New Jersey defending your character. It was supposed in the old days, when the board of guardians was in charge of the state, that you were all of you disposed to give the most monopolistic trusts of the country a great ringing welcome in New Jersey."

"New Jersey was known as the mother of trusts—a very troublesome and questionable family—and I had to spend my time outside New Jersey assuring the people of the Union that it had not been the fault or the disposition of the people of New Jersey that there were certain gentlemen who had undertaken to carry the Republican party in their pockets and to administer independently of the rank and file of Republicans in the state."

"New Jersey is progressive, but the United States is progressive, and we have here merely a delightful sample of the people of the United States."

"Now, these people are not bent on destroying anything, but they are bent on setting everything in order; they are bent upon justice; they are bent upon seeing to it that the people in general are partners of the government, as I was trying to show the other day. And the Democratic party is now placed under a peculiar responsibility. It has to prove that it is the worthy instrument of that zeal on the part of the people of the United States. If it does not prove it now it will never be given another chance to prove it. No party that proves unfaithful to that ideal will ever again be trusted by the people of America. And therefore we are standing at a turning point in our politics. We must make good or go out of business. In the verbiage, it is a case of 'put up or shut up,' because words are going to be discounted. Nothing will be honored except the actual carrying out of such programs as sensible men may unite in for the common benefit."

THE GREAT DUTY OF ADJUSTMENT.

We are servants of the people, the whole people. The nation has been unnecessarily, unreasonably at war within itself. Interest has clashed with interest when there were common principles of right and of fair dealing which might and should have bound them all together, not as rivals, but as partners. As the servants of all we are bound to undertake the great duty of accommodation and adjustment.—From Woodrow Wilson's Speech Accepting the Democratic Nomination.

The Democrats are not taking the election of Wilson for granted. They are working and working harder than in a score of years and working as a united party.

It is reported that papers which are supporting the bull moose have ordered extra fonts of "I's." And they will be needed when Teddy gets to talking.

CIGARETTES ARE BAD FOR WOMEN

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Has Decided Views on Subject.

AN ERROR IN NAMES.

Wife of Democratic Candidate Gives Out Letter Taking Strong Stand on Smoking Habit.

New York.—For the first time since Woodrow Wilson became the Democratic presidential candidate has Mrs. Wilson appeared. She attended in person her husband's daily conference with reporters, although heretofore she has made special requests that she be not quoted nor written about in the papers.

What Mrs. Wilson wished to have fully understood was that if she becomes the first lady of the land she will not, as has been said in a widely distributed interview, have packages of cigarettes in her personal desk at the White House and indulge in smoking with her callers.

Through Governor Wilson, Mrs. Wilson asked that publicity be given to a letter she had written to the editor of the State Journal at Columbus, O., repudiating an alleged interview with her in which she defended cigarette smoking for women. The interview had come to her in a letter signed "American Citizen," which said:

"Dear Madam—I can scarcely think of any greater calamity to the young women of the nation than to read such a preachment as your interview offers them. I am a workman, and I see men lose their jobs almost every day because they are incapacitated for work by the use of the cigarette. If smoking does this for strong men what will it do for girls and women?"

The "interview" was indeed a cordial endorsement of the woman smoker. Here are some of its assuring phrases, all credited to Mrs. Wilson:

"A woman writer for a syndicate of Sunday newspapers asked Mrs. Woodrow Wilson if she agreed with Gertrude Atherton's opinion of the smoking of cigarettes by women. She smilingly exhibited three cigarette boxes piled in the corner of her desk, all but empty."

"Why shouldn't a woman smoke if she enjoys it?" she queried.

"Why hasn't she just as much right to a cigarette as a man? Certainly I agree with Mrs. Atherton that any existing prejudice against women smoking is to the last silly and absurd."

"Smoking cigarettes is a question of manners, not morals. It promotes good fellowship."

"Some women feel that a cigarette calms their nerves and helps their brains into working order. Personally smoking diffuses my thoughts instead of concentrating them. I enjoy it as I enjoy after dinner coffee. Both are pleasant ways of ending and finishing off; both add to conviviality and good fellowship."

The editor of the Ohio State Journal, it was clear, had been much incensed at the apologies for the cigarette habit among women attributed to Mrs. Wilson, as he wrote on Aug. 10 an editorial in which he called for the defeat of Governor Wilson or a repudiation from his wife. If there was no mistake about it, he wrote, "Mrs. Woodrow Wilson shouldn't be mistress of the White House."

If the Ohio editor was emphatic Mrs. Wilson was certainly not less so. After the reporters had said they would gladly publish her letter to the Ohio editor she asked for an hour's time in which to write one. This was what she prepared:

"Dear Sir—I have just received a copy of the Journal with your editorial entitled 'Smoking Women,' and I beg leave to indignantly deny the statement that I approve of women smoking cigarettes. The interview upon which your editorial was based is a pure invention. I intensely dislike the cigarette smoking habit for women—in fact, so strong is my feeling on the subject that my real danger lies in being unjust and unkind in my judgment of those who differ with me in this respect. But certainly no woman in our household ever has or ever will smoke. Quite apart from the bad taste of it, I believe with you that it has an extremely injurious effect on the nerves."

ELLEN A. WILSON.
(Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.)

Governor Wilson, in approving the letter sent out by Mrs. Wilson, offered what he thought might prove an explanation for the interview.

"I do not think it was maliciously invented," he said. "There is a rather well known writer who signs herself Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, and she no doubt has been confused with Mrs. Wilson."

Mrs. Wilson Woodrow was formerly married to a relative of Governor Wilson, and it is understood that her views on the matter of women who smoke are different from those held in the household of the Democratic candidate.

The divided Republican party is like the boy "blowing against the wind." There will be a lot of bluster, but it will not take votes away from Wilson and Marshall.

Winning with Wilson means more than a mere Democratic victory; it means restoring real prosperity.

Wilson is the best equipped man nominated for the presidency since Lincoln.

George W. Perkins is sure a "bully" Progressive.

ROLLA WELLS IS EARLY ON THE JOB

Democratic National Treasurer Is After Small Contributor.

THE PEOPLE TO HELP.

There is to Be No "Tainted Money" Used in Electing Wilson and Marshall.

New York.—A small, smooth shaved, middle aged man with a coat of tan that gave evidence of much outdoor life recently came into the Waldorf carrying a suit case early in the afternoon and registered as "Rolla Wells, St. Louis, Mo."

The smooth shaved little man, who is to be the watchdog of the Wilson campaign money from now on, was asked for vital statistics, whereupon it was learned at first hand that he is a banker and ex-mayor of St. Louis, is fifty-six years old, was graduated at Princeton in 1876, or three years before Governor Wilson was graduated; that he has two sons who are Princeton men and a grandson who some day will be a Princeton man; that he had no notion of seeing New York this summer until the Wilson organization selected him as its treasurer and that just at present the one thing that sticks out in the appointment in his mind is that the new job cut in seriously upon a most beautiful vacation which he and Mrs. Wells had been enjoying in a camp at Little Traverse bay, Michigan.

Mr. Wells believes in getting at his desk at 8 o'clock in the morning.

"We are going to raise our campaign fund through the small contributions," said Mr. Wells.

"I am sure that a large part of the money will be raised by popular subscription."

"The people have confidence in Woodrow Wilson, and they will give what they can of their means to elect such a man president."

"I am a great believer in publishing broadcast, before and after election, the various contributions made."

"There are men who can well afford to give the committee $5,000, but I want to assure the public that we are not going to have any tainted money."

"We are appealing to the people, and we are relying on them to help elect Wilson and Marshall."

"I have two boys who have been graduated from Princeton, one five years ago and one seven. But it is not because ours is a Princeton family that I like Governor Wilson. He is a great big man and the type that we should have in public life."

Woodrow Wilson says this is not a time to be afraid to "speak out in meeting." That he was not afraid is demonstrated by his logical speech in accepting the Democratic nomination.

Roosevelt was willing to crawl from the White House to the capitol in 1908 if he could help his friend Root. Today he would like nothing better than meeting Root up a dark alley.

The Democrats are depending on the small contributor to help elect Wilson and Marshall. The appeal is being made to the people, and the people are responding.

Wilson will make the most accessible president who has ever occupied the White House. He is typically a Democratic man.

Farmers have awakened to the folly of the so called blessings of a protective tariff.

TESTING TEA BY BURNING IT

The Better the Tea the Fewer the Ashes, According to Washington Grocer.

"I bought tea the other day at a Japanese store," said the young housekeeper, according to a Washington Star story. "The proprietor saw that I had doubts about the quality, so he darted back to the rear of the store. I expected him to return with a cup of steaming tea, but he brought a small ash tray and match. He threw a pinch of tea into the tray, touched it with a lighted match and watched it burn. Then he applied the same test to another brand of tea that had claimed my half-hearted allegiance. The first sample showed only a small flake of ash, the second three times as much. 'Which shows,' said he, 'that the first tea is the best. That is an infallible test. The better the tea the fewer the ashes. I invite all my customers to test tea that way before buying.'"

"I took the ashless tea, of course. Since then I have wondered what the average American grocer would say if his customers should apply a lighted match to their tea canister before giving an order."

FIGHTING PESTS IN GARDENS

Larger Squash Bugs Found Harder to Control Than Other Insects—Treatment Differs.

All of us are bothered more or less, with injurious insect pests in the garden, and with dealing with them the first thing to be determined is whether they are chewing or sucking insects, whether they eat the leaf or extract its sap. There must be entirely different treatment employed in the two cases.

The chewing insects are comparatively easy to get rid of, unless they are working on the foliage, which will be injured by the application of a poison strong enough to kill the insects.

The sucking insects insert their bills through the skin of the leaf or stem that they are feeding on, so as to extract the juice, therefore no matter how much poison is applied to the surface, the insects get none of it.

For the striped beetle, which is destructive to squash, cucumber and melon vines, a slight application of lime, tobacco dust, plaster, or ashes, will be found a good preventive, and will also drive away those which may have already appeared. Sometimes, however, the ashes will burn the foliage if rain falls soon after they are applied, so on the whole lime, and plaster, or tobacco dust are better for the purpose, says a writer in the Farm Progress. Some keep a healthy bunch of onions growing in each hill, bruising the leaves occasionally, so as to hide the smell of the vines from the beetles.

The larger squash bugs have been the most troublesome and the hardest to deal with in our garden. They are sap suckers, and there is nothing we have found that will kill them which would not at the same time be injurious to the plants, so hand picking seems the only remedy. It makes quite a difference in the amount of work done whether hand picking is commenced early in the season or not until the new crop of bugs appear.

Imported Potatoes.
The secretary of agriculture warns American farmers against using imported potatoes for home production. Europe has several potato diseases not known to this country, and there is danger of introducing these diseases if the imported product is used for seed. The foreign-grown are all right for table use, but for cultivation they carry no little risk.

Bees and Farm Notes

The humus content of the soil is important in the orchard. To keep lawns in good condition, practice weekly mowing. Thousands of bushels of grain are spoiled every year by poor stacking. Alfalfa is ready to cut when the crowns begin to send up new shoots. Train up the tomato plants, it will give them size and they will bear better.

Don't forget to take water to the field for the horses during these hot days.

It is a well known fact that alfalfa does not do well upon an impervious subsoil.

The growth and feeding value of the soy bean is quite like that of the cowpea.

"Too little phosphorus" is the cause of many of the low yields on corn belt soils.

There seems to be a good deal of prejudice against millet because it exhausts the soil.

The yellow condition of the alfalfa indicates that it has not received sufficient nitrogen.

Sand and hairy vetch compare very favorably with alfalfa and clover hay as a feed for milk cows.

It is estimated that ten years of single cropping will wear out any but the very richest of soil.

Use the hoe in the garden a little every day. It will give good returns for all the time you put in that way.

Baling corn fodder is a new idea, but if it works out well it will save a good deal of hard and disagreeable work.

It is always a good plan to use plenty of seed in planting cucumbers, cantaloupes, melons, etc. The hills may be thinned out later.

Oats and peas should be cut for hay when the oats are in the milk stage and the advance pea pods contain reasonably good sized peas.

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. McEroy, in a letter from Clinton, writes: "For six years I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. Three of the best doctors in the state said I was in a critical condition and going down hill. I lost hope. After using Cardui a week, I began to improve. Now I feel better than for six years." Fifty years of success, in actual practice, is positive proof that Cardui can always be relied on for relieving female weakness and disease. Why not test it for yourself? Sold by all druggists.

LARGE APPETITES OF BIRDS

Robin Will Devour Two and One-Half Times Its Own Weight in Twenty-Four Hours.

It is claimed by naturalists that no living creatures eat so much, according to size, as birds. A robin, for instance, when in good health, devours two and a half times its own weight in the course of twenty-four hours, while a pair of blue birds have been known to feed their young 475 times during a single day. These many meals were not very large ones, of course; a single grub was brought on some occasions, and on others the beak of the parent birds were stocked with three or four small ones, but it is well within the mark to say that the weekly consumption of grubs by this family of young ones alone was between 4,000 and 5,000.

ering such trifles as earthworms, cockroaches and the like, with which it helps to sustain life from time to time.

A barn owl has been known to eat seven mice, one after the other. The heron is a large bird, though not a heavy one. A heron weighing four pounds would be a remarkably fine specimen. One of these birds, when trapped, disgorged two recently swallowed trout, one weighing two pounds and the other one and a half pounds. Another specimen was found to have put away three trout, averaging three-quarters of a pound each, although it was only a young bird, and another swallowed seven small trout, a thrush and a mouse.

Lime-Sulphur Bad for Potatoes.

Farmers who plan to use lime-sulphur instead of bordeaux mixture for potatoes should abandon this idea of getting along with only one fungicide. The New York experiment station has established the fact that lime-sulphur used on potatoes dwarfs the plants and cuts down the yield. The crop sprayed with bordeaux mixture yielded 50 bushels more per acre than the unsprayed, and the patch on which lime-sulphur was used yielded 50 bushels to the acre less than the unsprayed. This gives a difference of a hundred bushels to the acre in favor of the bordeaux as against lime-sulphur. Lime-sulphur for trees, bordeaux for potatoes, seems the proper rule.

Draining Swamps.

A German inventor has put in effect a system based on the principle of the hydraulic ram, by which the waves of the sea do the pumping for the purpose of draining swamps along the shore. This should interest the Atlantic and Gulf states of this country.

Exhausted Soil.

The farmer who wakes up to the fact that his soil is exhausted and will not produce as it once did is in the position of a man who has overdrawn his bank account. He must make good and that quickly.

BEES AND FARM NOTES

Fix up the binders before the beginning of harvest.

Sow some grass seed on the bare spots of the lawn.

Good hay depends more than half upon the hay-maker.

Plan in plenty of time to de-tassel the corn on the seed plot.

There is always trouble with milk and cream in hot weather.

Spray the fruit trees. It is good insurance for this year's crop.

Red clover is the most common clover grown for agricultural purposes.

The extra haystack will do no harm, and may be a splendid reserve supply for next year.

A good pasture makes a brimming milk pail; and silo makes possible good winter pasture.

Of the making of roads there is no end, and the last state of some of these is worse than the first.

Burr clover, or, as it is sometimes called, California clover, is adapted to low lands that are well drained.

Spade up the ground around the shrubs and trees, leaving about two feet of cultivated land about each plant.

Good roads are more essential than million dollar court houses; the one benefits the masses, the other the classes.

Many farmers every year lose a portion of the value of their crops because they have not force enough to sow them in season.

Forty pounds of pure Kentucky blue grass, five pounds of solid redtop and three pounds of white clover per acre make a good lawn seed mixture.

People are deceived sometimes in the length of time it takes to cool a big can of milk set in the cellar. Try with a thermometer and see.

THE two are closely associated;
the doctor puts all his skill into diagnosing your case and prescribing the remedy—to the drug store is left the carrying out of his instructions. You take great care in choosing a doctor in whom you have confidence—you owe it to yourself to take equal care in selecting a drug store.

All the physician's care is useless, if the drugs he prescribes are carelessly compounded. Bring your prescription here—ask your doctor why.

We call for and deliver your prescriptions. We Earl Peck, Henderson catcher, has picked out two "best teams" of the Kitty League. Hargrove is the only Mogul in either of them, who is set down as the best third baseman in the League.

Kesling has lost his batting eye to such an extent that he struck out five times straight in the Friday and Saturday games and was finally replaced late in Saturday's game by McArthur because of his total inability to hit Gossage.

The Sick.

Neville Blakemore who has been ill with typhoid fever, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blakemore, on South Main street, is reported to be still quite ill and just holding his own.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs.
Arthur M. Henry will regret to learn that their daughter, Miss Julia, is quite ill with typhoid fever at their home in the country. Miss Henry has lately shown great talent as a pianist and she was on the eve of her departure for Boston to take a course of study when the dread disease developed.

Col. Jouett Henry, Capt. Chapman, Tandy, Nelson and Clark, with five men who have qualified to shoot at the practice range at Earlington, went down there Sunday and will be there for the week.

Can Make Hot Ice.

Cambridge, Mass. — Prof. Percy
W. Bridgman, of the Department of Physics at Harvard, has succeeded in making "hot ice." He has manufactured some having a temperature of 173 degrees Fahrenheit, and he is confident he can make it even hotter.

The hot ice was produced by putting the water under a pressure of more than 20,000 atmospheres (300-000 pounds a square inch). In appearance the hot ice was similar to the brand in general use.

Our New Warden.

In the appointment of Mr. John B. Chilton of Hopkinsville, to the high and responsible office of Warden of the Kentucky Branch Penitentiary here we desire to commend the Prison Board for their good judgment in the selection of a man so well qualified to take the place Sept. 1st of Col. H. T. Hagerman, than whom there is no better or more competent official in Kentucky.

Mr. Chilton is a young man just past the score and a half mark and the high esteem in which he is and always has been held by the people of the city of Hopkinsville and Christian county is the best evidence of his qualifications. He is at present the Master Commissioner of Christian county. His pleasant manners and genial, sunny disposition makes it little wonder he is so universally popular and having been an ardent supporter of Gov. McCreary in his fight for the nomination and continuing it to the present time makes it one time at least where the right man for the right place has been selected. As for us, we shall be glad to see Mr. Chilton enter on his new duties and we have every assurance that he will make good.

Mr. Chilton and his estimable wife were in Eddyville Monday, the guests of Deputy Warden C. B.
Miller and wife.—Eddyville Herald.

Four Bathers Drowned.

Brownville, Tex., Aug. 26.—Four members of a party of bathers were drowned in the Arroyo Colorado at San Benito, this county. The dead are: Mrs. George Keltie, 35; Miss Sarah Robinson, 17; Miss Ida Keltie, 16; Chas. Myers, 20. The young people were drowned first, and George Keltie and his wife attempted to rescue them. Neither could swim. Keltie was rescued by children on the bank, who extended a fishing pole to him.

Greyhound Goes Mad.

Henderson, Ky., Aug. 26.—A greyhound, believed to be afflicted with the rabies, bit three persons at Utopia, this county. The dog ran into a crowd of children and bit Elmer Johnson and Ruby Dunbar. Paul Smith, the owner of the dog, in attempting to kill him, was also bitten.
The parties who were bitten were immediately taken to Bowling Green for treatment.

Old Offender.

Willis Lonsberry, the ex-railway mail clerk, who was captured robbing the mail car on the Union Pacific near Topeka, confessed that he also robbed a Southern Pacific train in California in January.

Judge Sterling P. Toney Dead.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 26.—Judge Sterling B. Toney, jurist, barrister and citizen, died at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Norton Memorial Infirmary, to which he came from Denver, Col., three weeks ago. It is said that he felt that death was close upon him and had expressed the hope that he might die in Kentucky.

White 'Possum.

Thos. J. Baynham, who lives in the Edgaten neighborhood, has what he calls an "albino 'possum."
It was caught by a negro man on Mr. Baynham's farm last week. The man was working in a clover field and came across the little fellow about two-thirds grown, and he captured it. It is as white as snow and has pink eyes.
